SHORTRIDGE HIGH SCHOOL

Indianapolis, Indiana

Vol. 77

Together, Shortridge students faced a new and involved world. Problems arose from poor human relations to our increasingly polluted atmosphere. They demanded quick and resounding answers. The method by which Shortridge students responded to these difficulties may decide the world of tomorrow, as well as have an impact on society today. Each person possessed the option to flee from all responsibility or to stand up and face each difficulty in confrontation.

Kerry Kirch leaves for an after-school job.

At right—Chris likes it here, but he still thinks of home.

Christopher von Stieglitz from Germany and Trine Rolstad from Norway were the foreign exchange students this past year at Shortridge. Chris liked the atmosphere around the school and the chance to work with an integrated student body. He also enjoyed participating in the marching band. Chris treasured the opportunity to see different points of view on things that are happening in the world today.

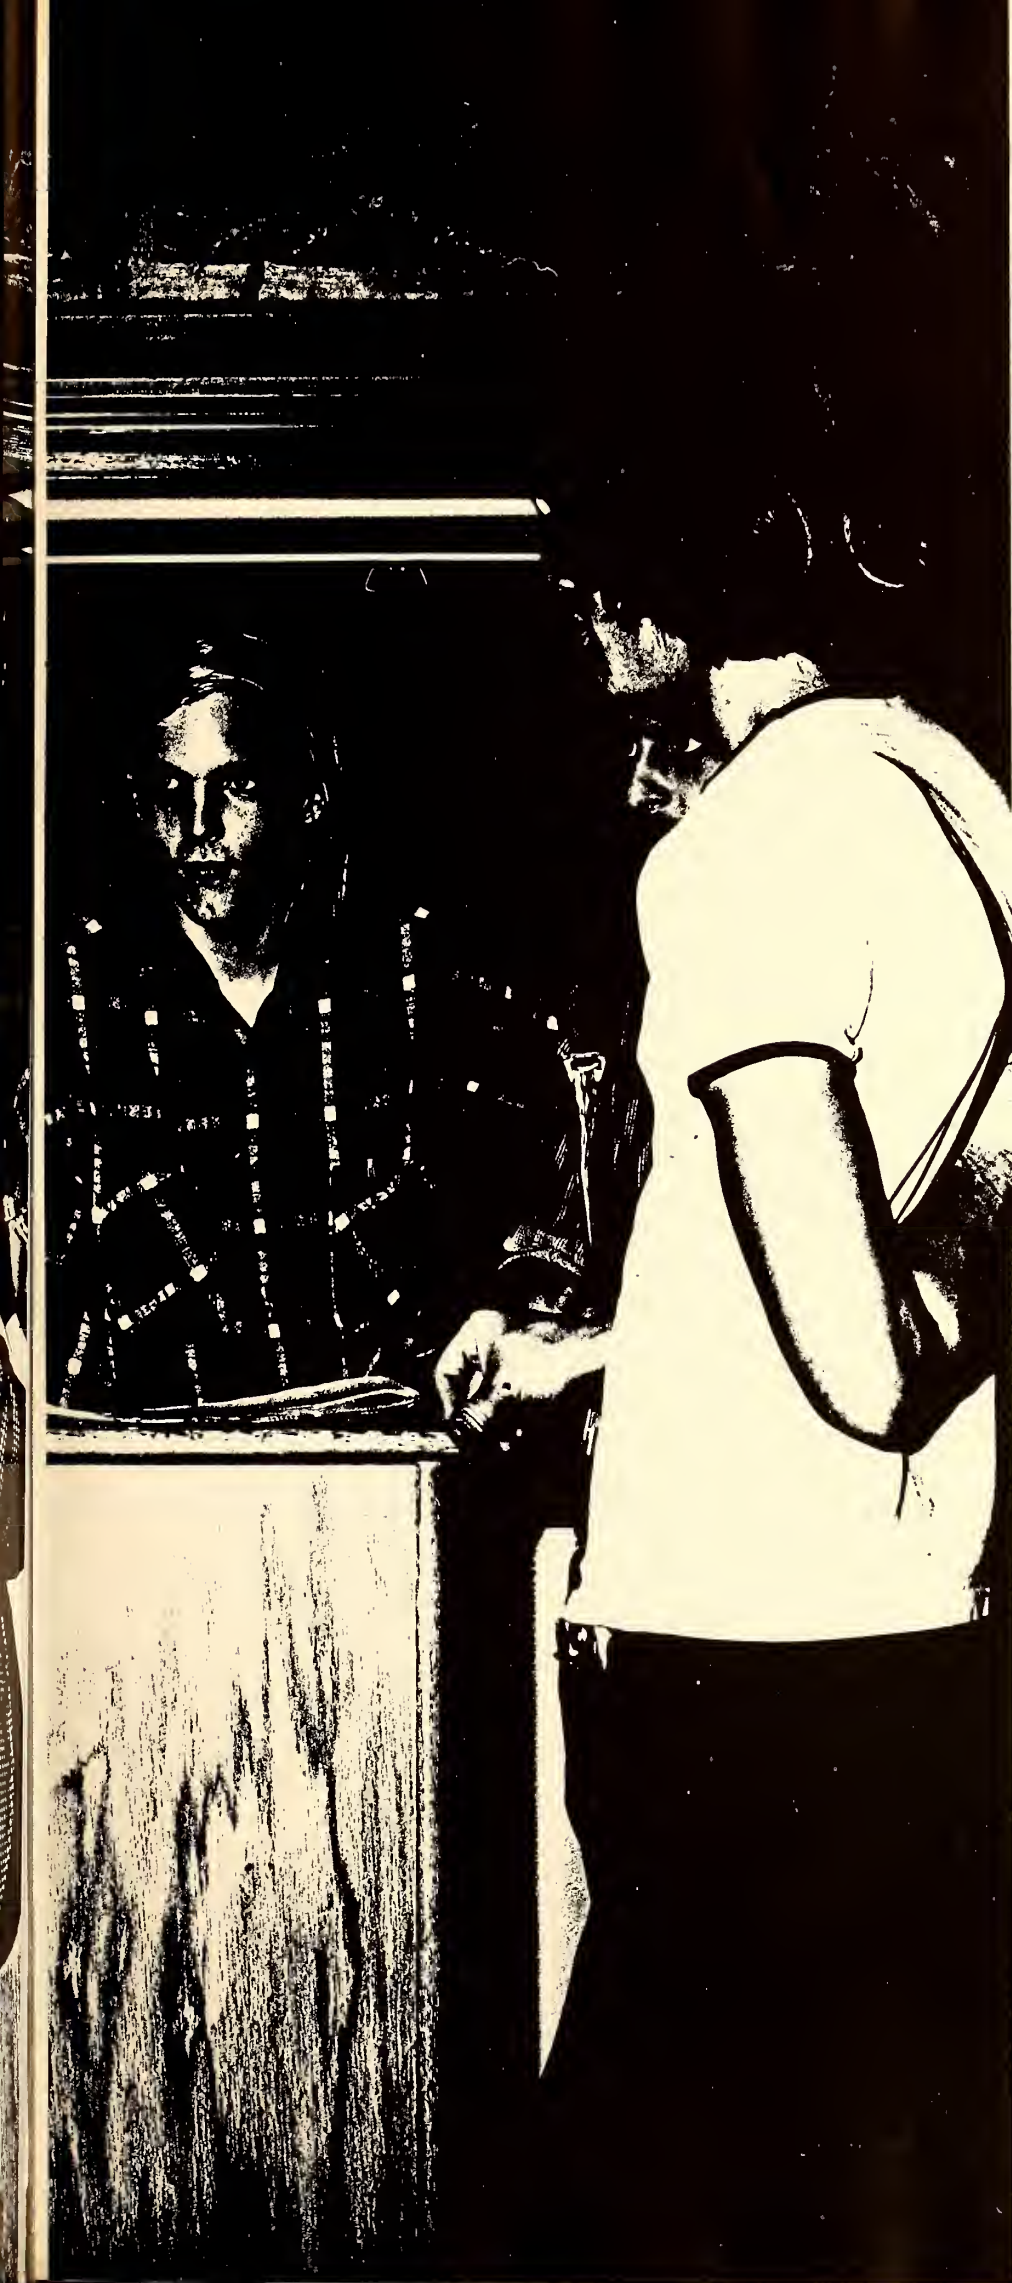

Trine enjoyed everything about America. She spent a lot of time at the beaches. Her hobbies included dancing and playing guitar. She also liked drawing and painting. Trine enjoyed ball games, especially Norwegian style. After this visit to America, they both returned to their countries to finish school.

Shortridge students have also ventured to the four corners of the globe this past summer. Beverly Moody traveled to Mexico, while Tom Nolan and Susie Buschman went to France. Fred Poehlmann, Kerry Kirch and Greg Hinkle journeyed to Germany. Echo photographer, Leslie Yeager, took photos of European sites.

Academics

Thoureau, Shakespeare Motivate Students

Several teachers joined the English department staff this past year. Along with teachers from previous years, they worked to give Shortridge English students a foundation of knowledge to be used for the rest of their lives.

Works of Chaucer, Shakespeare and Thoreau provided subject matter for quite a few conversations at Shortridge. Many students were caught uttering an expressive "To be or not to be . . ." over a sandwich in the cafeteria. Henry David Thoreau sparked many mind bending discussions. An introduction to Chaucer's Canterbury Tales provoked the thoughts of many seniors.

With a desire to communicate their ideas, Speech students struggled to improve their method of expression.

Journalistically inclined students learned objective news reporting as well as responsible editorializing. A field trip to the "Indianapolis Star and News" gave Journalism students an inside look at the making of a daily newspaper. Guest speakers also added to the variety of the class.

After research papers, book reports, and grammar assignments, the department found time for extra curricular activities. Great Books Clubs for Freshmen and upperclassmen, as well as Debate Club, Fiction Club and Quill and Scroll were sponsored by the English department.

An advanced French class looks on attentively as Carl Weinhardt with his eyes closed, recites his memorized French assignment.

Mr. Romsey indicates points of accent in the Spanish language to his Spanish I class, invoking a quick response from students.

Students prove that learning can be fun as they listen to a Spanish tape. With books open and minds alert these students accomplish victory over the many problems of the language.

Field Trips Add Variety To Language

Department Head Miss Louise Reiter attended the Goethe Institute this past summer, bringing back many new teaching techniques to the benefit of her advanced German students.

Advanced French students spoke in their chosen tongue while venturing outside the classroom door. A trip to the Indianapolis Art Museum gave students a chance to practice the art of everyday conversation. Other field trips included luncheons in local restaurants. Students were allowed to speak only French on these outings.

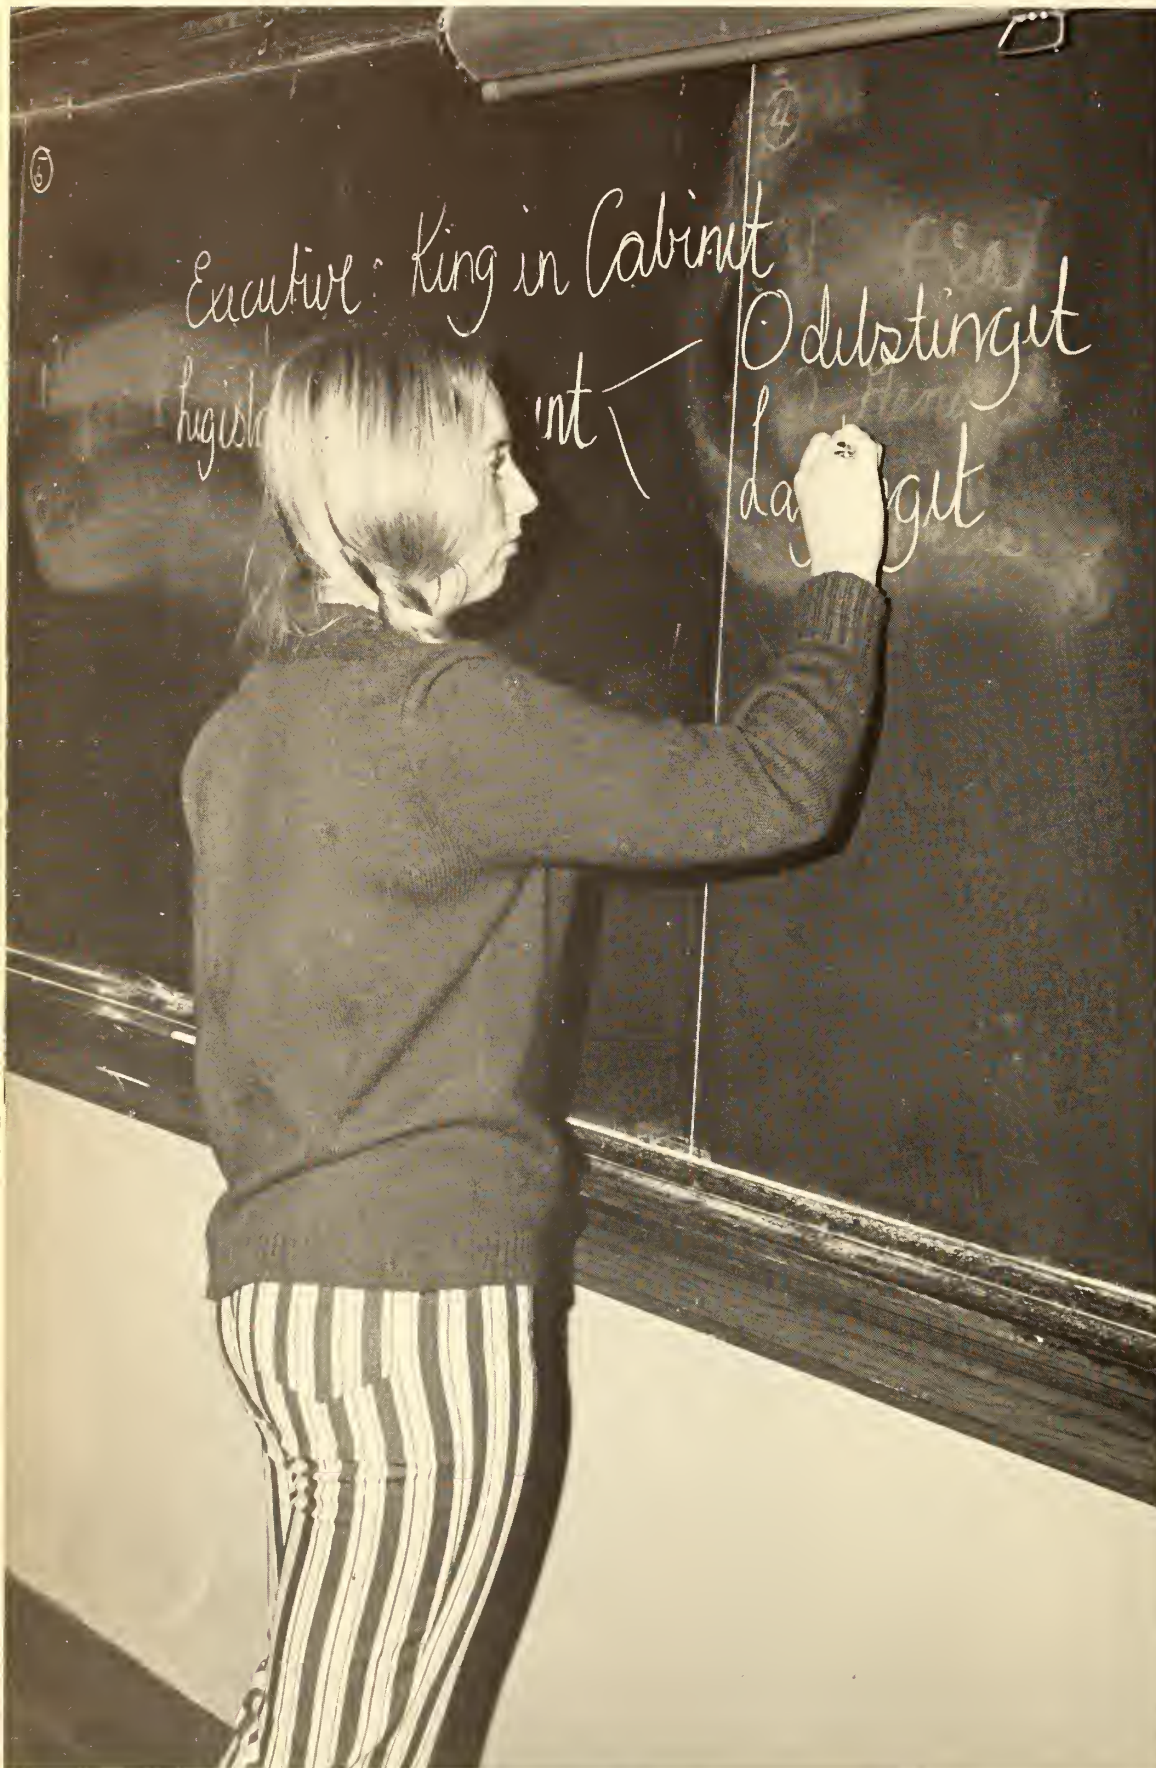

The Taco House held many happy memories for Spanish students. Several classes were delighted at the spicy Mexican foods as well as the "warm" atmosphere.

Special films and foreign language tapes added to the curriculum of the Foreign Language Department.

Mr. Allen Sutherland, assisted by Tom Nolan, shares a moment of happiness with I.U. Honors Applicants. The students met together in groups each day to prepare for the examination.

Discussing a problem in Economics, students Michael McCarty, Dove Foxlow and Jon Hawkins converse with teacher William Morgan.

Soc. Studies

Dept. Adds

New Classes

Dealing with important events past, present and future was the initial task of the Social Studies Department. Introduction to Social Science and Civics were incorporated into the curriculum of the Social Studies Department last year.

Several History classes used a new type of presentation—film loops. The film loop was a silent 8mm documentary film, about five minutes in length. These films thoroughly developed a particular period in history.

Psychology classes were given a boost this past year by the use of new experimental equipment. Color scheme study and personality examination gave variety to the class. One project of particular interest to the students was an experiment on group consensus.

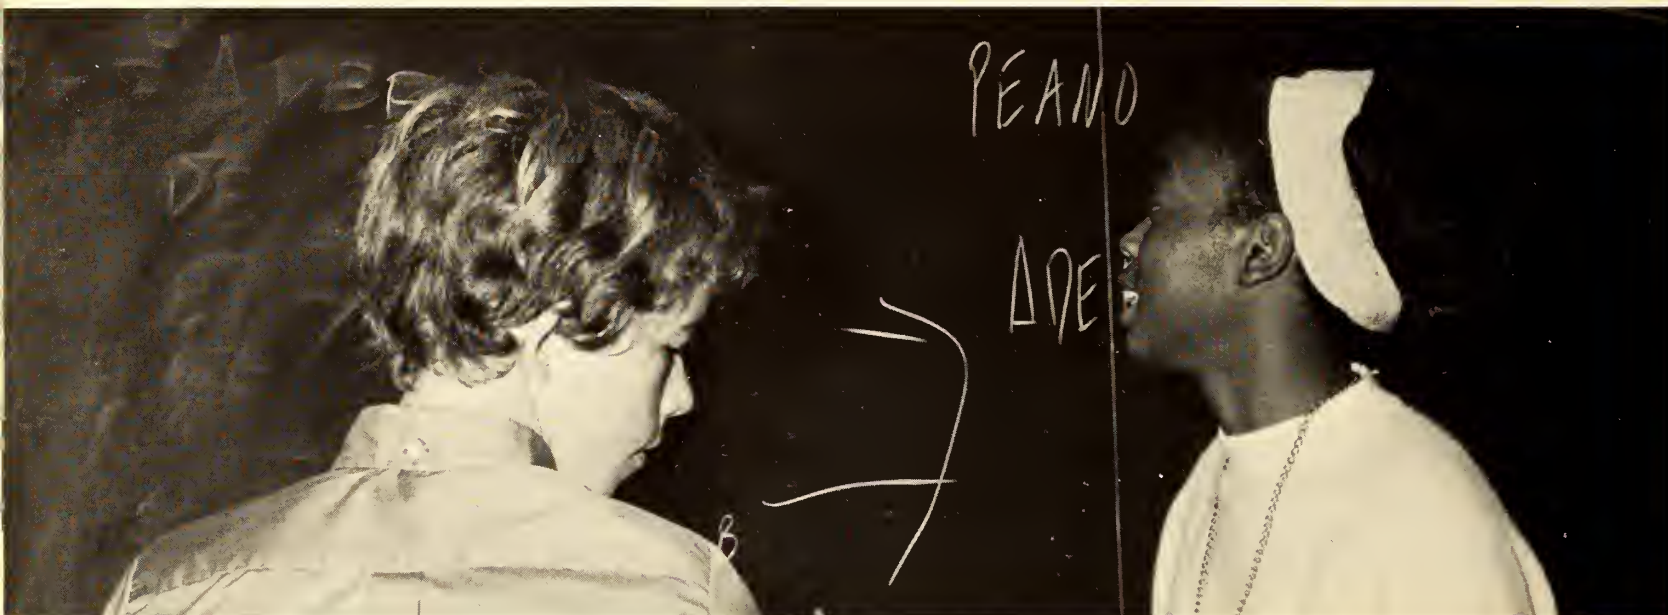

Spring semester electives offered in the department included International Relations, Values and Issues, and English History. Discussion of ideas added to class interest.

Kenny Manson acts as bailff during a mock Supreme Court session, while Jim Lambert sits on the Federal Supreme Court bench.

The only girl Computer Moth student, Steophonie Heord, used computer language to type the information that she feeds into the machine.

Combining their knowledge in an effort to find the right answer, Scott Hotchel and Cheryl Sams attempt to solve a problem in Geometry I.

Showing a film to his Geometry class, Mr. William Gibson presents a new dimension in the learning of math, using a tried and true tool—the sound movie projector.

Math Pupils Learn Basics Of Computers

Computer Math was added to the Mathematics Department this past year. The course, taught by Mr. Ron Freeland, utilized a computer provided by the Indiana Bell Company. Students electing to take Computer Math were allowed to practice operation of the machine during their free periods.

Calculus students learned advanced mathematic techniques under the guidance of Principal R. Lloyd Green.

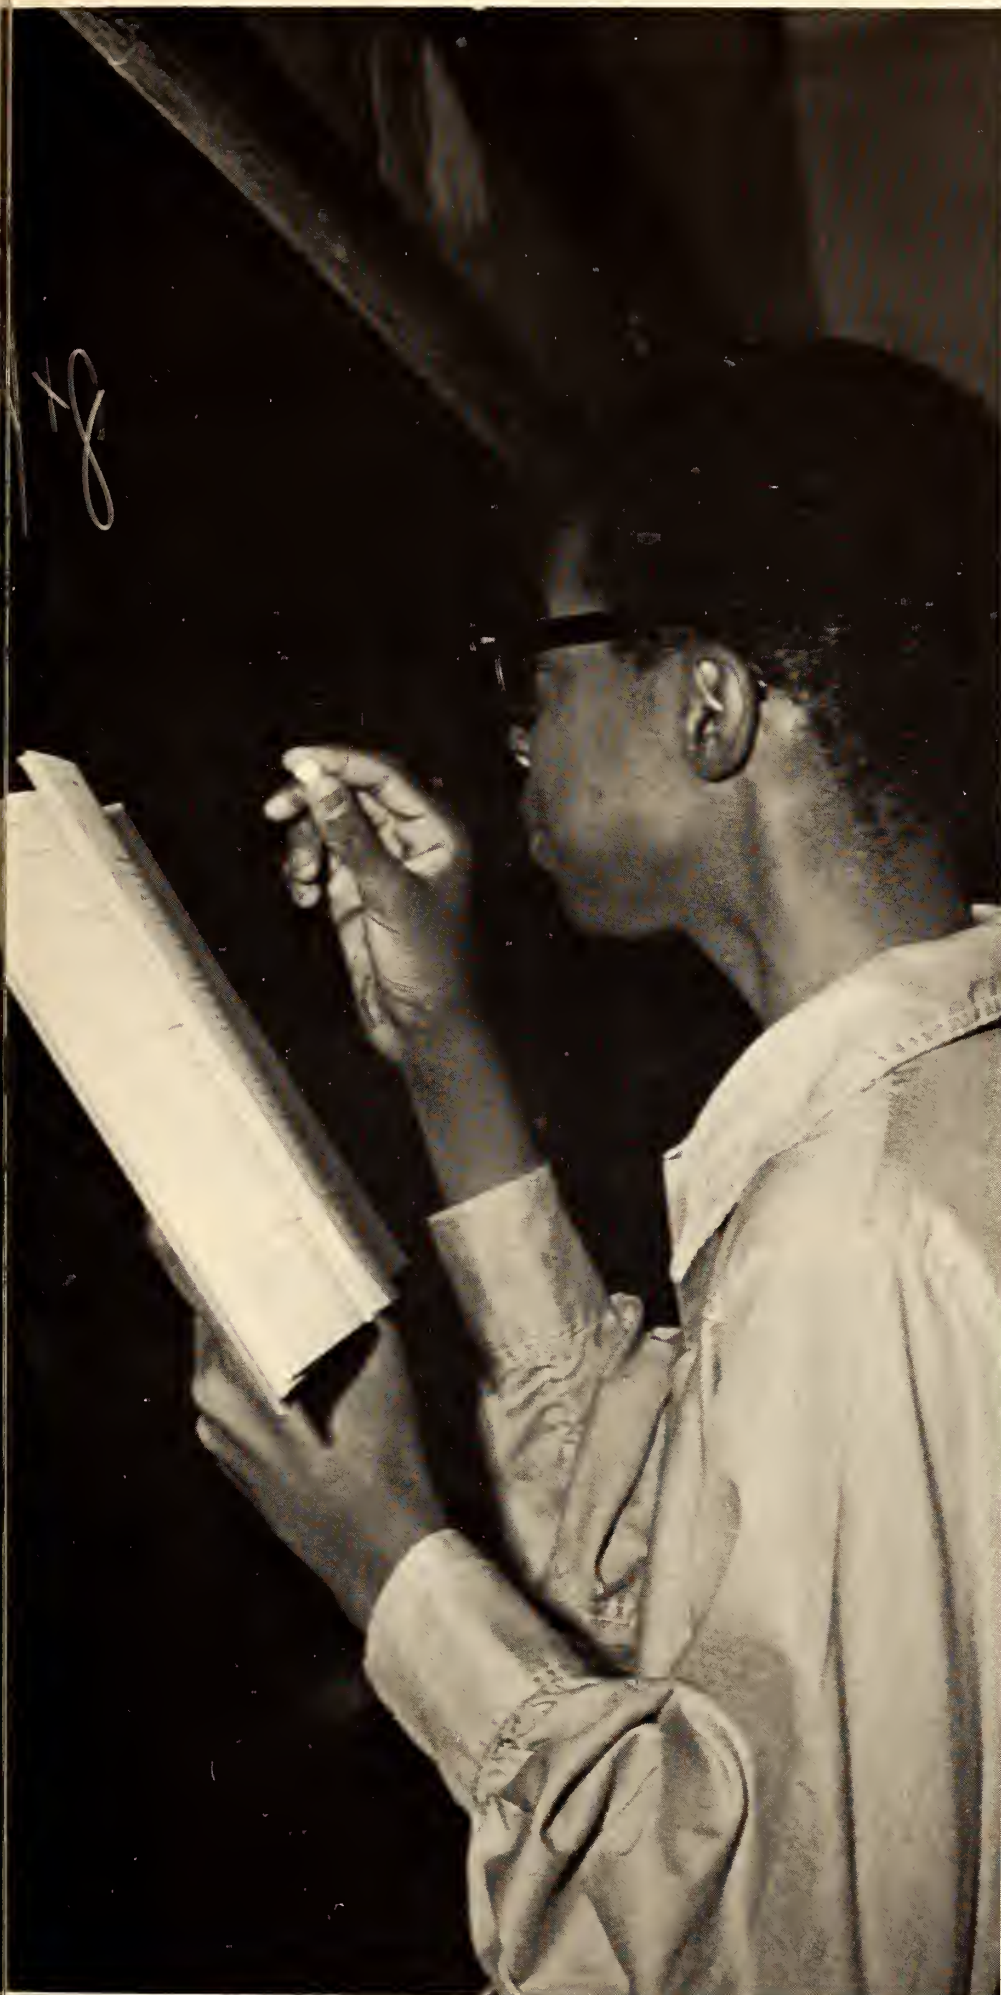

Many Geometry students discovered that knowing a square from a triangle just wasn't enough.

Students not only had to find answers, they were also expected to prove them! Learning the rules of Plane Geometry was the first task for these students.

Algebra I-IV students were instructed on everything from the History of Algebra in their first semester, to the use of the slide in Algebra III.

Another brain strainer offered by the Math Department was a combined course of College Algebra and Trigonometry, called Pre-Calculus.

Attempting to solve an algebraic problem on the board, Sophomore Michael Jordan ponders over a possible answer to an equation.

Squinched eyes inspect a motionless organism. Herman Burdette peers through the lenses of his microscope searching for life signs.

Mr. Hoover Baker explains the anatomy of a common Acrididae (grasshopper) to Elizabeth Flannery in a Biology I class.

Scientific Activities Enhance School Year

Dropping bowling balls out of windows was just one of the many projects of students taking Physics under the guidance of Mr. Don King, Science Department head. "The King" also had a hand in several other scientific experiments. Among the many adventurous Physics-Chemistry projects was a behavioral study of liquid nitrogen. This experiment resulted in the shattering of several rubber balls.

Many Chemistry students recalled that their most memorable classroom experience was filling the third floor corridor with a pungent odor. The creation of organic compounds was coupled with a nostril-opening aroma that was shared by everyone who happened to be on the same side of the building.

Squeamish Biology students were the subject of many after-school conversations. Dissection was a big part of the course for most students. Some professed to find it quite repulsive. Of course, there were always those iron-stomached students who never flinched at the sight of blood.

Studying the onotomy of a grasshopper gives Biology student Mott Donnegan insight into the complex structure of Acrididoes.

Being in one of Mr. King's Physics classes can lead to strange things like dropping balls out of windows. Greg Strond prepares to "let go" as the class observe this motion/rate experiment.

With a book in hand, Monterey Dorby utilizes the autumn weather to examine leaf specimens in the inner court.

Home Economics, Ind. Arts Show Talent

Fine furniture was designed and made by Wood Shop students in the Industrial Arts Department this past year. Students enrolled in Graphic Arts received "on-the-job-training". These students helped print the "Shortridge Daily Echo" and other publications, put out during the school year. Other Wood Shop students learned welding and industrial skills.

New to the department this year, was Mr. Don McCaully, linotype operator in Graphic Arts.

While advanced Home Economics students kept up with the latest styles, they also experimented with new ideas. Beginning students sometimes became professional zipper rippers, ripping out many of the zippers they had worked so hard to put in their clothes.

Proper diet and cooking techniques were taught in Foods classes. Cooking simple foods and then moving ahead to gourmet items, the advanced students became the pride of the Home Ec. department.

Family living students analyzed domestic problems in class. They exchanged ideas on divorce, marital adjustment and child care problems.

Chop . . . chop . . . chop . . . chop . . . With a smile on his face, Fred Curbon runs the cutting machine in the print shop.

Wrapping freshly printed attendance cards is just one of many chores students undertake in the print shop, Michael Ney, and Rick Arthur, show how it's done.

An attentive Duone Maddox watches while Mr. Burnel Coulon gives a bit of needed advice on the use of the print shop equipment.

Expressing conflicting opinions on family and home management gives Seniors in Family Living a chance to share one another's ideas.

Clothing student, Linda Grady, prepares her slack pattern for alterations, while Darlene Willis adds the final touches to her garment.

Clyde Rainey and William Byrd are shown actively working in the development of their skills in a leatherwork class, one of the many types of craft art classes taught at Shartridge.

Busy at work is Bill Robertson, Shartridge's artist-in-residence. He is fitting together a metal sculpture called "The Flying Machine."

Burke Singleteary and Winifred Penn try their hands at leatherwork with the help of Mr. Sheldon Kantar, Craft Arts teacher.

Unlimited Talent Featured In Art, Music

Art craftsmen colored their world with creativity last year. Student artists made signs for major school functions. They also turned their hands to inspirational masterpieces of their own making. This included everything from feet and shoes to heads and hats. Many unique works of art, such as ceramics, mobiles and leather craft also appeared.

Mr. Bill Robertson was the first of two artists-in-residence to perform at Shortridge. Each day he worked with his acetylene torch and table of metal scraps making abstract art that "came alive"!

The Music Department experienced many new changes. One of these was a new department head—Mr. Leonard Behling. Two new teachers were also added. They were Mr. Stephen Stomps and Mr. Christopher Carter. Among other courses, Mr. Carter taught the Music Men and Girl's Ensemble. Mr. Stomps worked with the Madrigals and other active groups.

Taking on John Show as a student conductor, this year's Shortridge A Bond practices music for one of its many performances.

Military And Commercial Skills Show

"Small but mighty" was the phrase often used to describe the Shortridge R.O.T.C. unit this past year. The prize-winning group was 149 members strong. Included were 115 cadets, nine sponsors and a girl's drill team of twenty-five. The Girl's Drill Team, commanded by Virginia Booth, placed high in several drill meets. They were first place winners in a competition held at North Central High School. The Veteran's Day Parade brought even more glory to the Shortridge R.O.T.C. program when they were ranked first in the city.

New equipment, purchased last year, brought many new improvements in the Business Department. Mrs. Ruth Webb, department head, started an accelerated secretarial practice course. The course was designed for Seniors planning on getting part-time jobs in college. Another new course was Business Opportunities and Business Practice. Regular courses in shorthand, typing and Business Math were also offered.

Physical Ed. Dept. Sees Many Changes

Is there o better way ta relax than a goad, fast game af basketball? These two physical educotian students guard their opponnent as he tries ta dribble down the court to make a basket.

Perhaps the most significant improvement in the physical education department was in the boys locker room. New lockers were installed to give individual locker space for the boys on the Football, Basketball, Wrestling, Track, and Baseball teams.

New staff members included two basketball coaches, a football and a wrestling coach. Body co-ordination was the main goal of physical education students.

Health students were given a close look at the Health Profession. Speakers addressed classes about the advantages of the health profession.

Driving wasn't the only skill acquired by students taking the course. How to change a flat tire and the identification of engine parts were also explained.

Activities

"Who are you?" Album Editor Camille Kennedy seems to be asking one of the hundreds of pictures used in the "Annual" this year.

"Annual" workers, Lorna Douglas, Diane Jackson and Stephanie Banks pause for a brief moment of relaxation after a hard day at the mill.

Staff Workers Show Journalistic Talent

Starting early to prepare for her job on the 1971 "Annual", editor June Oldham attended an editorial workshop at Ball State University during the summer.

With the beginning of school, a large, inexperienced staff quickly dug into the task of preparing a book, with a new and different approach, for Shortridge. One innovation occurred when the book was changed from a three column basic layout to a more modern mosaic layout.

The editor and advisor taught the staff how to draw layouts, write captions, headlines and copy and to crop pictures.

Fighting a winning battle against deadlines, the "Annual" soon faced another battle mid-way through the fall. This time, it was a lagging sales campaign, due to lack of student support. This problem was also conquered and the final book emerged.

Yearbook advisor, Mr. Robert Haustan, takes a moment from his job to speak to the advertising staff about the finer points of selling ads.

Tuesday Echo Staff: Margie Sanderson (Editor). Standing—John Crawford, Luke Akard, Jeanette Benberry, Angie Dunn, Janis Nichols.

Daily Echo Undergoes A Liberalization

"The Shortridge Daily Echo" went through many changes this year. Mr. Richard Cohen, along with Mrs. Pamela Feree, became the new advisors, after the retirement of Miss Jean Grubb. Mr. McCauley the linotype operator was also new.

Students noticed the more liberal style in the "Echo." "The Monday Echo" featured interviews of teachers about their opinions on school and world matters. Freehand drawings were also used.

All the editors and staff members worked to produce their paper, the special PTA and "Christmas' Echos."

Echo staff members, Linda Lee, Kevin Kelso, Friday editor, and Ellis Woolridge work on homework after finishing their assignments.

Wednesday Echo Staff: Cathy McAndrews, Harriet Sharlow (editor), Camille Kennedy.

Terry Walsh, editor of this years "Christmas Echo," intently reads his finished product.

Friday Echo Staff: Alexis Mirsky, Randy Kelso (co-editor), Micheal French, Kevin Kelso (co-editor).

In the shadow of the linotype machine, Mr. McCouley prepares a line of type for the "Echo". Mr. McCouley is the new "Echo" typesetter.

Advisor, Mr. Richard Cohen often spends long hours at his desk checking some of the "hot copy" for the latest edition.

Clubs Study Composition, Lit. Works

Students who really enjoyed reading important works of literature participated in Great Books Club this past year. "Moll Flanders" and "Death of A Salesman" were among classics discussed by the group.

Sharing their works of "poetic genius," exchanging criticisms, and learning new writing techniques were among the many activities of Fiction Club members. Group members were able to benefit from the vast knowledge of their sponsor, Miss Mary Glenn Hamilton.

Fiction Club: Michael Harding, Michael Galer, Mike Myers, Debarah French, Michael French, Karla Saperstein, Tam Nolan.

NHS Initiates Select Group Of Seniors

In March, the National Honor Society initiated forty-two new members. Candidates had to be in the top twenty-five percent of their class and have two service citations. New sponsor, Miss Sally Henderson, led the group in the NHS project for the year.

Mu Alpha Theta was the national honor society for mathematics. The national requirements for the organization consisted of a B average in all school subjects and a B plus average in mathematics courses. The club was sponsored by Miss Lucille Wahl.

Quill and Scroll, an international journalistic society, undertook the task of again selling chrysanthemums during Homecoming.

Two Quill and Scroll initiations were held. One in December, where those present had the honor of hearing Miss Nancy Green of Elmhurst High School. The other initiations was the Annual Spring Awards Banquet.

Mrs. Pamela Feree and Mr. Robert Houston were the sponsors.

Tongue Tied Students Try New Tongue

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mr. Richard Cohen, took on a new routine this year. Guest speakers, films on Spanish-speaking people, along with Spanish refreshments were the highlights of each meeting. The Christmas Party and the Spring Dance were the main activities for the year.

Le Cercle Francais, a national organization, was for the French student who wanted to improve in the language. In order to be in the club the student must write a 500 word theme which the sponsor sends to the national organization for approval. The club emphasized the cultural relationship of the U. S. and France.

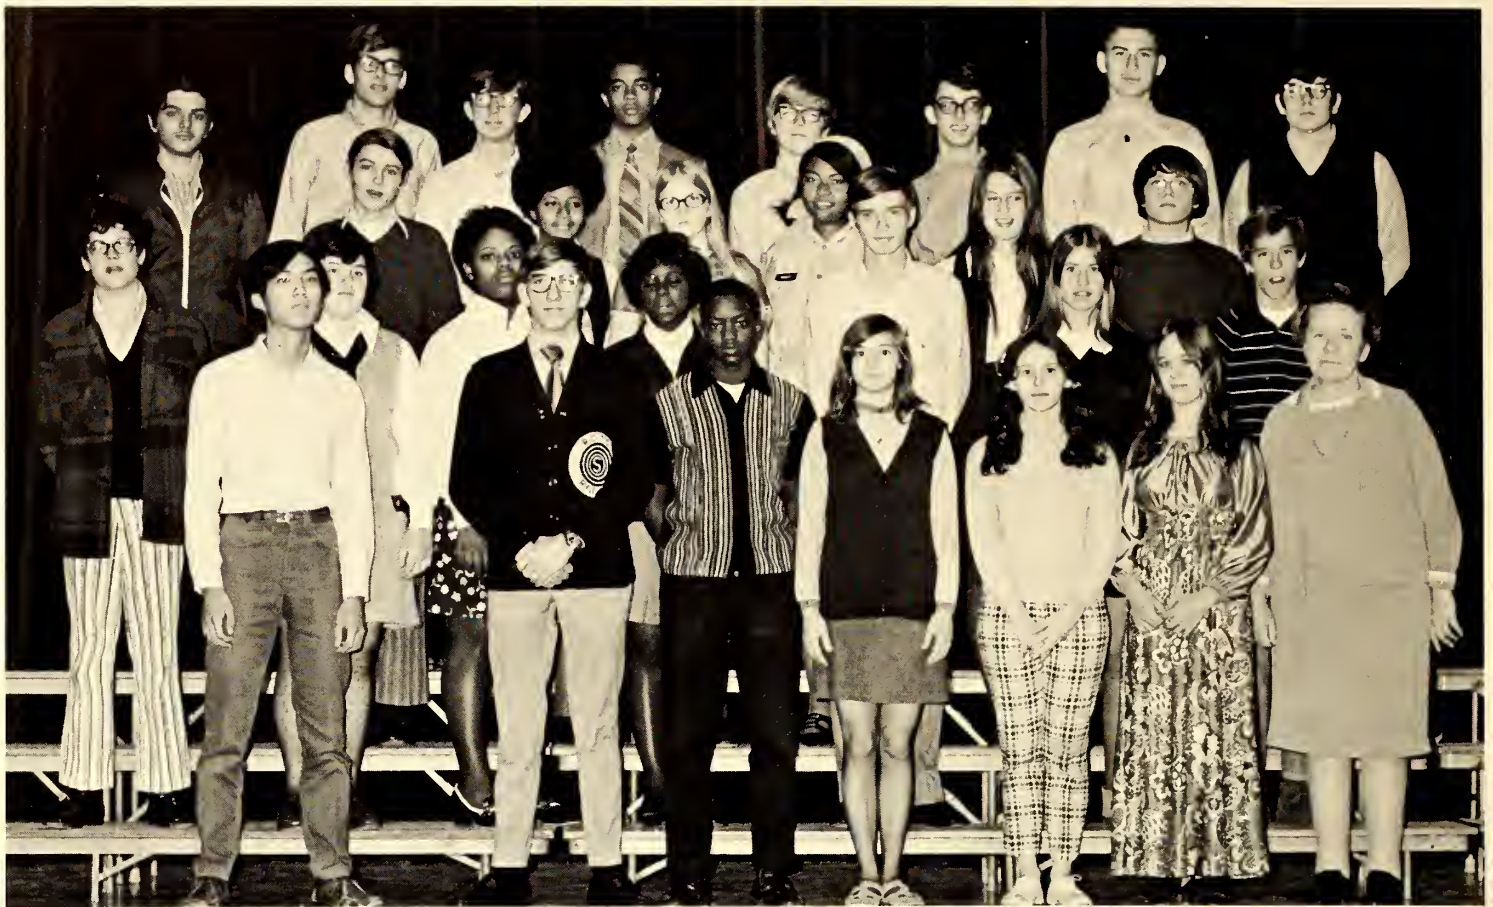

Le Fleur de Lyse was a new club, sponsored by Mr. Katsaropoulos. The Club met weekly to help the members advance in the French language.

German Club

Accomplishes

Many Goals

The German Club, sponsored by Miss Louise Reiter, took part again in the National Federation of Students of German. This state organization, supported high school and college German Clubs. It also held two German Conventions in which Shortridge was represented. The social events of the club this year were the annual Christmas Party and the Fasching Festival in the Spring.

The Latin Club, sponsored by Mrs. Emma Randle, participated in the I. U. Honors Program. Stanley Bibbs, Beth Burris, Barbara Overton and Taryn Kennedy, members of this year's Latin Club, were those who qualified to take part in the I. U. Honors Program. The club's activities centered around the club's Valentines Day Party.

The Debate Club's purpose is to promote sensible arguments. Sponsored by Mr. Richard Cohen, it is a member of the National Debate League and The Marion County Debate Association. The Spring Tournament was the most important event on the calendar.

Naturalist Club field trips lead members to out-of-the-way places. Here at Leiber Park, Karen Glickert and Cindy Starrett commune with nature.

At the last meeting of the year, Hypnotism Club members write the end to club activities, as the club goes out of existence.

Field Trips Provide Fun And Frolic

The Naturalist Club abolished grade requirements this past year. Naturalists Club started out to be a club for those students who were interested in science, but this past year it's purpose was to expose city students to wildlife.

Their programs included field trips to Leiber State Park, Owen Putnam Park, and Morgan Monroe State Forest where they made paths throughout the parks.

The Steering Committee with the help of their sponsor, Mr. Hoover Baker, planned the programs of this past year.

The Hypnotism Club was a new group this past year. The club met after school on Wednesday.

The clubs' purpose was to teach concentration, improve memory and the ability to relax.

The Shortridge Quiz Team competed against and defeated, Beech Grove in a television match. The team, led by Captain Glenn McDonald, answered questions ranging from art, music, mathematics, current events, all the sciences, and, new this year, home economics.

The Quiz Team is sponsored by Mrs. Constance Kirby. Other meets were held during the school year.

Shortridge students supported three mathematics clubs. The oldest of these was the Math Club, which was organized in February of 1916 and has been active since then. Members of the Math Club must be in Geometry II or higher and have a liking of mathematics.

The Chess Club, Sponsored by Mr. Hoover Baker and Mr. Charles Thomas met once a week. The members set out determined to win, and the majority of the time they did. They won the state championship and brought home many trophies.

Girl's ROTC

Wins First

In City Meet

Competitive divisions of Shortridge High School ROTC held quite a formidable position in various city competitions. The Rifle Team participated in several local meets, including The Fifth Army Postal Match, and two city postal matches. Expert rifle men placed in each of the competitions.

Female members of the department not only boosted the moral of their male counterparts, but they also brought home several awards to Shortridge's ROTC department. The Girl's Drill Team won several first place awards in local competitions. ROTC Sponsors made their own uniforms, which merited praise from high ranking officials.

Battalion Commander, Cadet Col. Reginald Mason was among the guests to speak at the Kiwanis Club Dinner. Both the Girl's and Men's Drill Teams performed at this dinner and incited an enthusiastic response from the audience.

Representatives Improve SHS Relations

The Student Council was very active this past year, as can be seen by Shortridge's unique Homecoming. Another project of the Student Council was a student boycott of the cafeteria to better conditions there.

The Student Council was also a factor in forming an advisory Committee, which discussed independent studies and various school rules and regulations, with the hope of changes.

The Human Relations Council, sponsored by Mr. Roy Aberson, also took on a new look this past year. A series of skits in which the students would portray a teacher, and in turn, the teacher would take the part of a student, was given. This helped to better the student-teacher, the teacher-student relationships.

The HRC also sponsored many speakers, one of which was the Dean of Men, Mr. Richard Boormen, who spoke on corporal punishment.

Human Relations Council Officers: Neline Berry, Ann Russell, Gabe Gachaw.

SHS Clubs

Work Hard

To Improve

Girl's League held many work projects that benefited both school and community. Some of these projects were students working at Larue Carter State Hospital and selling daisy stickers as their money-making project.

In conjunction with the Girl's League, True Blue also contributed their time in working at hospitals. In addition to this, members of the club held a toy drive for those persons at the hospital wanting to buy gifts for their families.

The Key Club, another service organization devoted its time in aiding different groups around the city. These members also worked at Larue Carter Hospital.

Shortridge Service Clubs Benefit School

Mrs. Ruth Webb, Business Department head, sponsored the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) in another successful year. The club was open to any student enrolled in one of Shortridge's business courses.

This past year the club was service oriented. Business students served as typists for various school functions.

The Shortridge Red Cross was very active this past year. As a service group they participated in a multitude of activities, highlighted by a chit-chat program at the Girl's School, tea time parties at Central State Hospital and volunteer programs at orphanages and at the Veterans Hospital.

Shortridge's Red Cross was fortunate enough to have representatives on the Marion County Board, and also on the Marion County Board of Directors.

With an outstretched hand and a determined look, Mr. Stephen Stomps, director of the Madrigals and a Capella Choir instructs his students to put more emphasis on a certain point in their song.

A New Sound For a Cappella And Madrigals

The Madrigal Singers took on a completely different look this past year. The girls were dressed in full length blue velvet formals with trains. The men wore black tuxedos with blue shirts and velvet bow ties to create a beautiful blend with the girls. They sang mostly chamber music, rather than regular Madrigal music. This music created a new sound.

The sound of chamber music could be heard on the fourth floor during the second period, too, as the a Capella Choir rehearsed for Christmas and Choral Classic performances.

New Image, Jazz, Rock Add Variety

Choral Club took on a new look this past year. Under the direction of Christopher Carter, these twenty-five girls determined that they would be a successful group. Contributing to this new mood was livelier music and their fashionable new tunic and pants outfits.

The Music Men had a wider selection of music to sing this past year. Among the items were pop, rock and jazz. The outfits of the Music Men were black jackets and black pants.

The Girls Ensemble also went through many changes under its new director Mr. Carter. Dance routines and props were added to the choreography made enlivening performances.

Band Adds New, Unique Formations

Conducted by Mr. Leonard Behling, the Band added to their performances new and different formations. Marching in the Veterans Day Parade, they placed first in city competition. The Band also marched in the Indianapolis 500 Mile Race Parade.

The Orchestra led by Mr. John Medjeski practiced long and hard for their many performances. The Orchestra, made up of strings and the best brasses, percussions, and woodwinds of the Band, played primarily classical music.

The Pit Orchestra, made up of the best of Band and Orchestra, worked many late hours for perfection in the music that they were to play at the school musical and community performances. The Pit Orchestra class met after school and was directed by Mr. Leonard Behling.

Practicing alone to form harmony, this year's brass section of the Shartridge Band masters songs for performances during half-time of football and basketball games along with pep sessions.

Dramatists Communicate In Theatrics

Students who were interested in dramatics, joined the Footlights Club. The members and their sponsor, Mr. Hirsch, discussed recent happenings in the field of dramatics. The club also took trips to see theater productions. Footlighters who wanted to be more involved in the field of dramatics went into Thespians. To be in Thespians one must earn ten Thespian points. Each point is worth one hour's work on one of the school's productions. These people may either have been in a production or helping in the Stage Crew.

The Stage Crew was a group of students who helped back stage, checked lights, made scene changes and did various other behind the scene jobs. They also operated curtains and the sound system along with the backdrops. The Stage Crew was led by Mr. Studebaker, who kept the productions running smoothly.

The School musical "Once Upon A Mattress" presented a story about a young prince whose mother would not let anyone in the kingdom marry until her son was married to a real princess who could pass her impossible test.

The play involved a variety of songs which the performers presented with the orchestra.

At rehearsal, Sir Harry (Glen McDanald) speaks of Lady Larkin's (Mary Bruce) condition, as the wizard (Mike Myers) peers from behind.

'71 Vaudeville Is All-Star Performance

"A Star Spangled Banter" was the theme for Junior Vaudeville. Four acts tried out for Vaudeville cuts and all of them passed judging by a select group of teachers.

"Murder in the Rue Morte" was about a wife who tries to murder her husband after she discovers that he is inheriting millions of dollars.

A satire on television commercials was done in "The Ides of March." It was a spoof on things ranging from weiners to the "Man from Drag."

The real story behind the discovery of America was told by an old Indian chief in "Do You Have a Reservation."

"What's It All About" was a story of the typical American boy asking a girl to the big dance.

On his knees, Pat Byland asks Deborah Bottles to the big schaal dance, while her friend, Elsie Sacks watches the proposol.

Voudeville Choirman Lula Barnette and Program Editor Allison Rooker pause from their busy schedules to pase for on Annual picture.

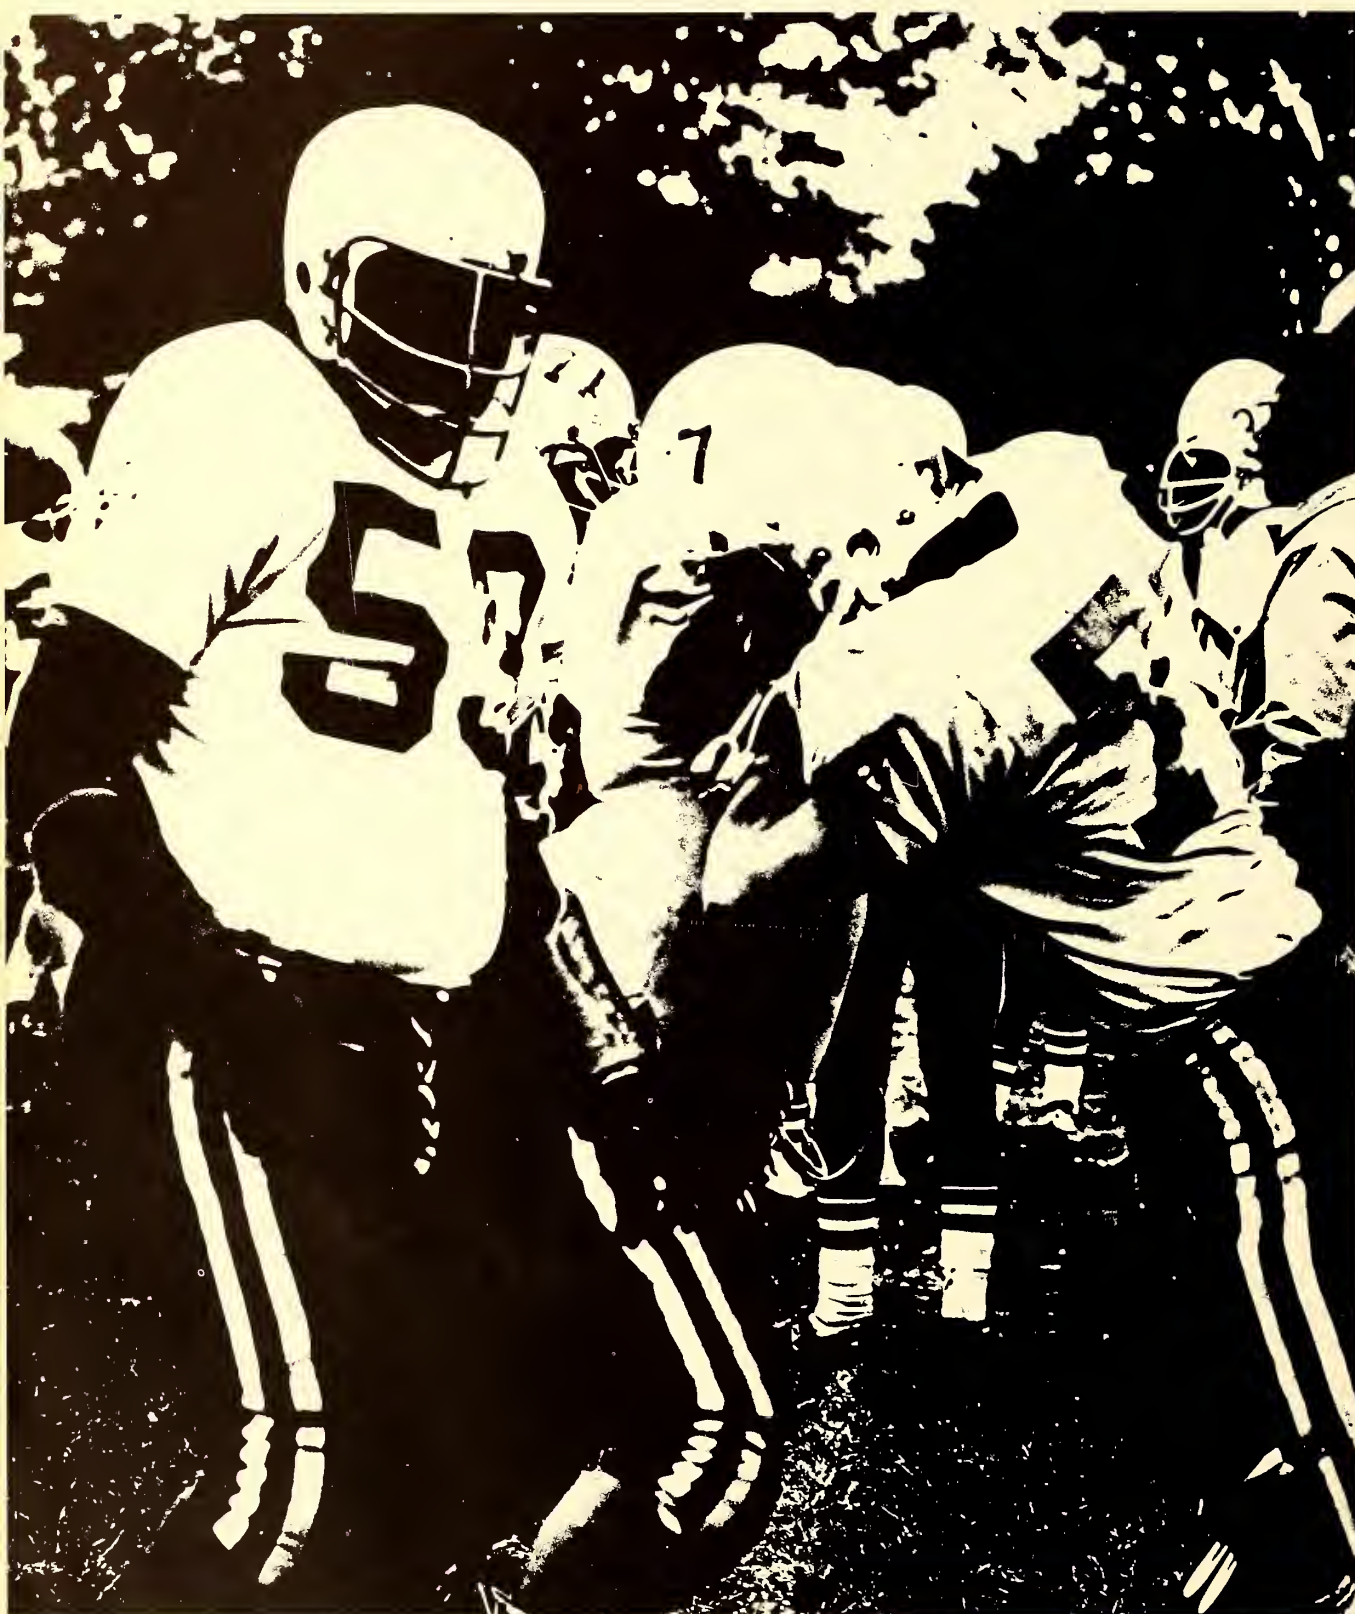

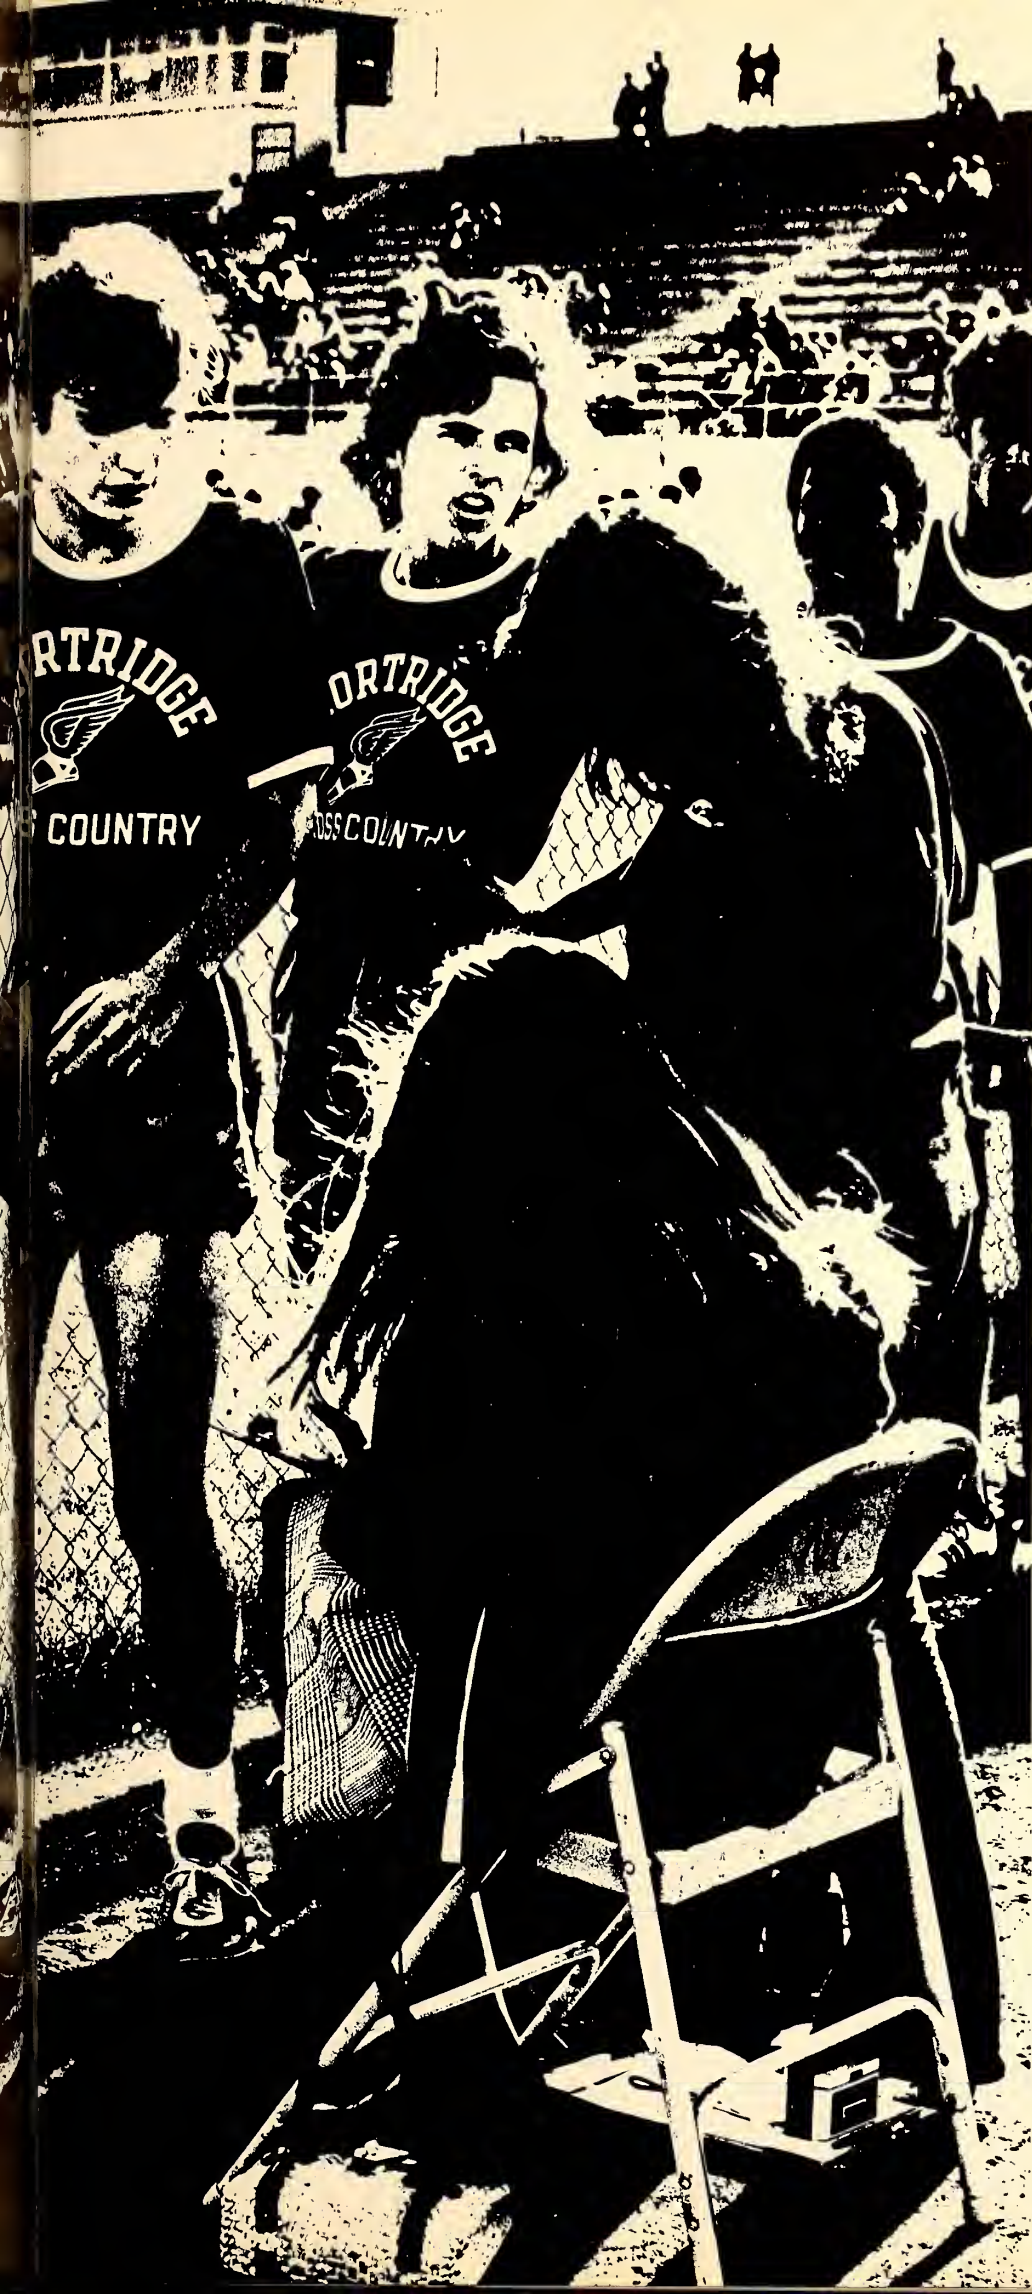

Forrest Waoley, Gerri Murray, Jomes Fauntoin, Ellis Waalridge and Steve Mason sing a sang in "Da Yau Have a Resevotion".

Right: At the breakfast table, Rachel, reody to blow up, tells her husband "I'll be glad when the divorce comes through."

Clinton Carban directs an on stage rehearsal for his vaudeville set, "The Ides of March," a spoof on television commercials. Actors practicing their parts are Stanford Williams and Caral Maxey.

Striving to reach the goal,
Competing for the extra point,

"Jamming" to their own Music, members of The Monoco Show Band played a few popular songs for the Shortridge audience. The group was the first of three bands to play at the Homecoming Concert.

Homecoming Drops Past Picks Up New

This year's Homecoming took a few steps away from the traditional activities. Instead of a parade from Shortridge to Julius Field, there was a parade of decorated cars and floats during halftime. Another change was the replacement of the Homecoming dance with a Rock Concert. Ellis Woolridge served as emcee for the festivities. Music for the concert was provided by The Monaco Show Band, The Ninth Spectrum and the Empliments Show Band.

During the intermission, the Homecoming Queen and her court were announced. The princesses were: Vanita Banks, freshman; Vickie Sallee, sophomore; and Christie Hinton, junior. The Homecoming Queen was Debbie Carpenter.

In keeping with past years, members of Quill and Scroll sold chrysanthemums and pom-poms in the cafeteria. Our football team stuffed the Wood Woodchucks back into their hole with a 20 to 8 victory.

Devils Have Second 5-5 Grid Season

With only seven seniors, Shortridge's grid team completed its second consecutive 5-5 year under Coach Jerry Chance.

The running of all-city second teamer Walt Peacock, aerial "hijacking" of Titus Rush, and passing of Mark McDonald and Dave Shanklin, all underclassmen, showed that youth doesn't always constitute inability.

Rush had four interceptions and McDonald and Shanklin shared the single-calling chores.

Seniors John Kirmil, Tom Nolan, Bucky Frazier and Greg Strand performed well on defense. Strand was on the All-city second team of "The Indianapolis News", while Kirmil was honorable mention.

Tam Nalan (55) leads the team onto the field while Dave Shanklin (15) quickly fallows. George Witt takes a breather.

Mental alertness is as essential as physical ability for a successful football game. Head coach Jerry Chance prepares his players for the strenuous game with a halftime pep talk in the locker room.

Jerry Chance proves coaching has its trying moments.

"Hey, Kirmil, hit him low."

"C'mon ref! What about the facemask!"

"I think we'll start all over again!"

Satans Cop Second City Title In Row

In his first year as head coach, Bill Springer directed the hardwood team to a 16-7 record including its second consecutive City title; the school's third since 1967.

Co-captains Dave Speckman and Charles Jordan led the Satan's in scoring. Speckman, the only senior starter, was tops at 20.8. Jordan, a 6-8 junior center, had a 20.0 average but led in rebounds with a 17.0 average.

Warren Boyd, the other junior starter, provided clutch buckets while sophomore guards Ron Jones and Chet Dorsey handled the backcourt. Junior Juan Jones was the sixth man in the Satan attack.

Shortridge had little difficulty coping the City as its pressing defense stymied the opposition.

Hobbs Beats Panthers For State Crown

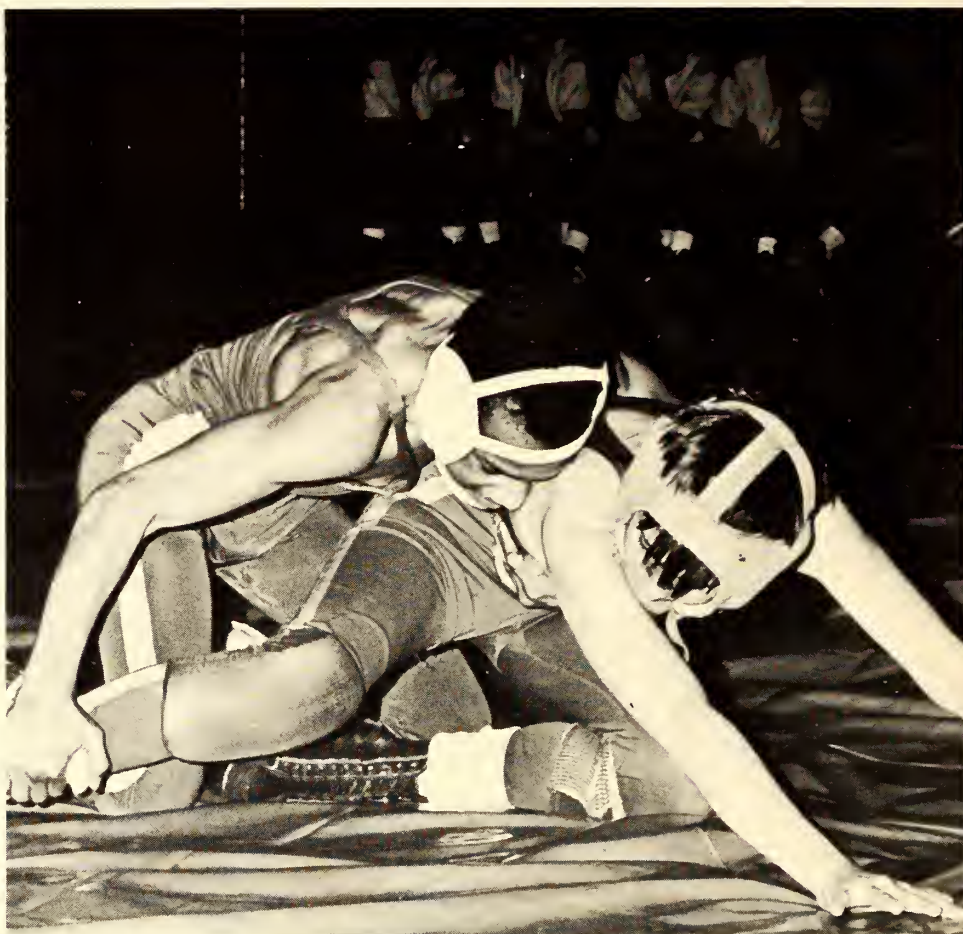

John Hobbs brought fame to Shortridge grapplers by copping his first state championship in the 105 pound class and gave the '71 matmen a seventh place in the State Wrestling Championship Tourney at Southport.

Bruce Corbin of the third state championship Bloomington Panthers found Hobbs too much and lost a 2-1 decision.

Hobbs, a 105 class transfer from Southport, was unbeaten in 19 matches. He won 17 and tied twice. Hobbs, who will help form the nucleus of next year's team, carried an 8.0 grade point average. At the Tipton Tourney, where he won the 105 pound championship, Hobbs was voted the Tourney's most outstanding wrestler.

Coach Richard Boarman totaled a 2-8 season record and had five dedicated and talented grapplers, who helped him make the season bearable. The quintet was: Frank Jacobs, Bucky Frazier, Herb Stratton, Derek Bland and Hobbs.

Preparing to "take down" his opponent, Roymond Boker begins his match. Boker was a member of Shortridge's frosh team.

Harriers

Under the guidance of first-year coach, Larry Humes, Shortridge posted a 5-3 record in dual competition and finished well in the invitationals.

Seniors Greg Smith, Mark Hammer and Mike Taylor were the experienced members of the squad, who carried the harriers. Smith was the top runner throughout the year.

The best showing in the invitationals were third at Marshall and fifth of fifteen at Ben Davis.

Youth Power Pays Off For Track Men

Youth was the key which unlocked the door to success for the track team last spring.

Loaded with talented underclassmen, Jim Hill's last team of runners enjoyed one of their best seasons in recent years.

Bob Jones, a lanky 6-3 junior was the top underclass performer as he journeyed alone representing the Satans in the State Finals in the high and low hurdles. Jones posted the city's best time in the lows at 14.9 seconds.

Al Cobb, who won the city's shot-put title, Jim Wolpert, Walt Peacock and Mike Weighard were other underclassmen who fared well throughout the season.

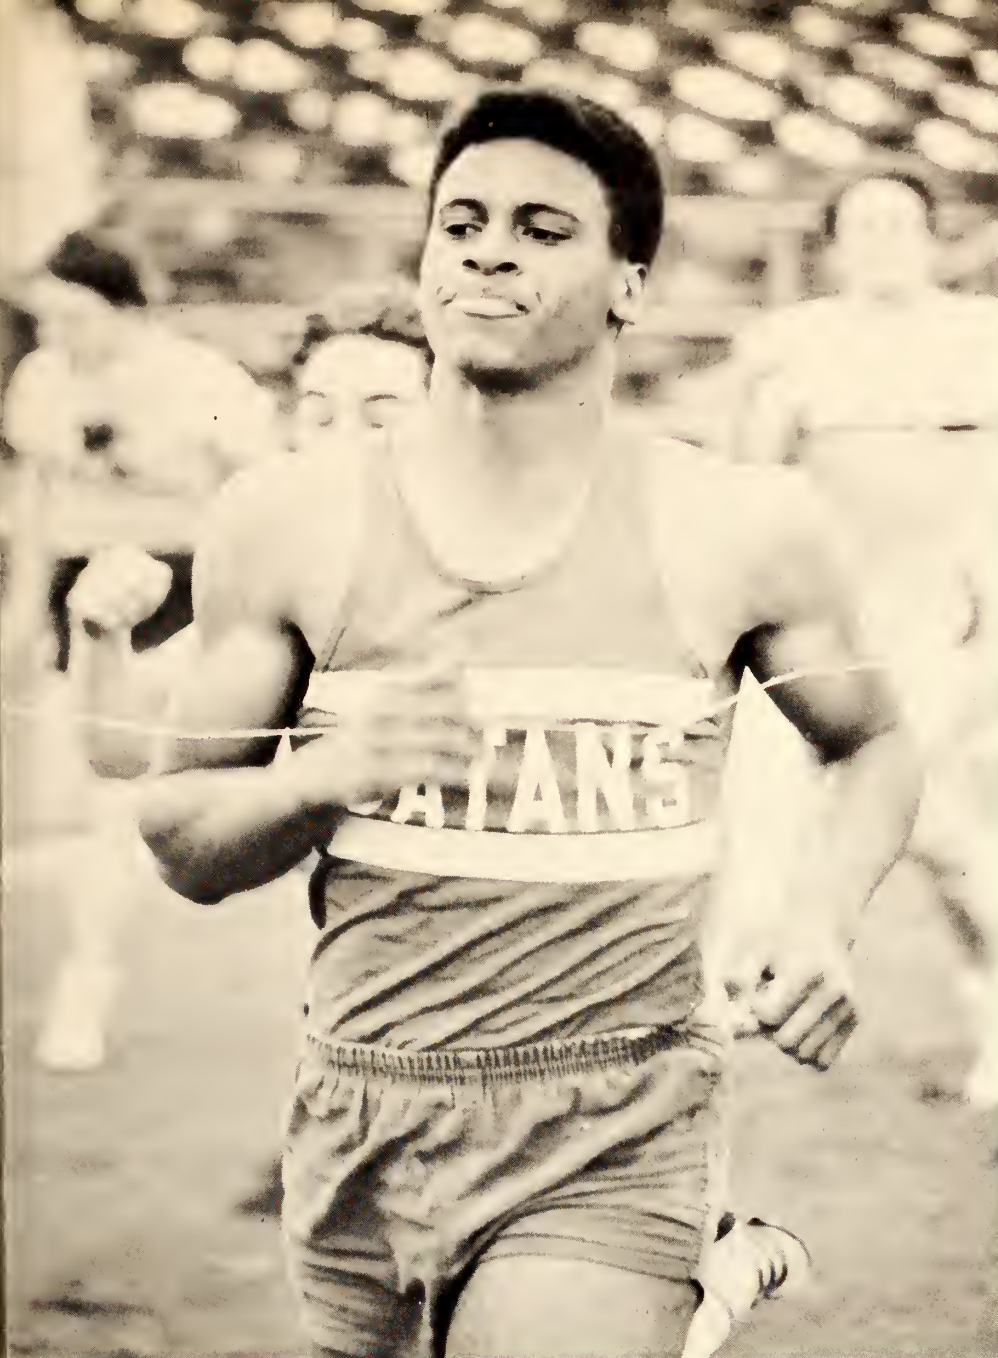

Although the non-seniors performed well, the fourth year men were the leaders and guided the team.

Racketeers

End Season

Successfully

As in the past two seasons, Shortridge's "raqueteers" were the most successful of the spring sport teams.

The Devils, led by the play of Randy Strand, Todd Deitz, Kevin Kelso, Tom Marks and Charles Roach, had one of the best won-lost records in the city. The Satans won their first five matches which made them a strong contender for the city title.

Under first-year golf coach Larry Burdick, the tee-tippers improved slightly over the previous season. Although the team record was not one to boast of, several individuals enjoyed a fine season.

Dave Speckman and Bill McAllister each earned medals during the year. McAllister also finished fifth in the city individual meet.

Golf is a sport which builds character and concentration. Tim McDowell exhibits the latter trait as he follows through on his drive.

Ball Batters Bounce Back Successfully

Bouncing back from a 1-12 season the previous spring, Coach Tom Harding's diamond squad was one of the most improved teams in the city.

After losing their first two games 11-0 and 14-1, the Satans came back to win big against Wood and Washington. All told, Shortridge had a 4-7 record.

Although small in number, the Devils improved both in the field and at bat, drastically reducing the number of mistakes.

Top batters Jerry Murry and Carl Lile, and rugged hurlers Steve Williams and John Battuello were supported by an enthusiastic group of underclassmen.

Murry, who for part of the year led the city with a blistering .588 batting average, finished behind Lile in balloting for the Russell Julius Award as the most outstanding player.

Batuello, along with Larry Baker was among the team's top hitters.

The key to winning is getting an base and moving into scoring positian. Here, Larry Baker uses a sacrifice bunt to advance a runner.

Enthusiasm, spirit, and dedication followed the mighty Blue Devils in their every attempt at victory. Team spirit was given quite a boost as cheerleaders led Shortridge fans in vigorous cheers, rhythmic chants, and peppy songs. Selling Shortridge stickers before every game was also included in the girl's spirit-boosting activities.

Shortridge's Lettermen united their masculine voices to form a resounding chorus which was heard at Shortridge games throughout the year. The cheerblock was made up of those Shortridge athletes who had won a letter for outstanding achievement in their chosen sport. A special auditorium honoring the lettermen, highlighted the club's activities.

During halftime activities of football, high-stepping expert baton twirlers joined the SHS majorette squad this past year. The girls marched with the Blue Devils Band at games and also in city parades.

The pom pom girls brightened halftime activities at home basketball games. The girls performed routines which they made up themselves.

Majorettes: Marilyn Elstan, Jane Waters, Vanita Banks.

Varsity Cheerleaders: Marsha McDowell, Jana Walker, Daphne Johnson, Terry Willis, Karen McClain, Margie Hurre, Tericko Knight.

Administration Initiates Experimental Plan

Mr. R. Lloyd Green, in his second year as principal, administered the School Board's new comprehensive program, and also a new experimental plan in the second semester.

A new Dean of Men and Dean of Women were appointed this past year. Mrs. Rose Carpenter was made Dean of Women, while Mr. Richard Boarman took on the challenge of being Dean of Men.

Mr. Lester Groth, Director of Guidance, worked as a mediator between counselors and students.

The Administration worked together to help Shortridge through another successful school year.

New Ideas Help Faculty

"Zealous" was the description of Shortridge's faculty this past year. The energetic pillars of knowledge sparked new-found interest in many courses. New ideas, new classes, new faces and new methods of teaching made subjects more interesting.

Many faculty members visited other schools searching for the new and unusual. Other teachers took their classes out on the town.

Dedication Goes To Long-Time Teacher

The Class of '71 dedicated Their Annual to Mr. Larry Burdick. He has been known to students through his participation in extra-curricular activities at Shortridge and also as a Social Studies teacher. Along with being the sponsor of the honor student program, he also coached the golf team and found time to drop in on the HRC and to keep score at the basketball games.

Since 1963, Mr. Burdick has been a Social Studies teacher at Shortridge. His special interest lies in the field of International Relations.

Students listen attentively as their teacher, Mr. Larry Burdick lectures his World History class on same "historical aspect."

Coaxed on stage to speak on sportsmanship, Mr. Burdick was shocked to find that the 1971 Annual was dedicated to him.

With his grade book open, Mr. Larry Burdick discusses semester grades with senior Reginald Grant Masan in a World History I class.

Senior Council members with Mr. Friga watching over, laugh as they make out a gift list for the Senior Christmas party.

'71 Class Leaders Plan School Activities

A busy year of activities started for seniors with the election of class officers. Matt Lieber was chosen to lead the class as president and Bernadette Randle assisted him with his responsibilities as vice-president. Secretary Kris Teter kept notes while Treasurer John Steward handled financial matters. June Oldham was Annual editor.

Class officers were automatically members of the Senior Council, the ruling body of the Senior Class. Decisions were made on selections ranging from Annual dedicatee to graduation caps and gowns.

Senior council members hold an informal "Rop Session" before getting down to the task of outlining programs for the class of '71.

Senior Class Officers: June Oldham, Annual editor; Bernadette Randle, v-pres.; Matt Lieber, pres.; John Steward, treos.; Kris Teter, sec.

Junior Prom Becomes "Soulful Fantasy"

Brightly colored balloons, crepe streamers in exaggerated lengths, and centerpieces in pastel shades were all a part of the decor which lent to the prom theme, "A Soulful Fantasy."

Also contributing to the "fantastical" mood of the Indiana University Medical Center were resounding cords of romantic music provided by the "Soul Aggressions" Band. Dancing the latest steps and stopping for an occasional refreshment added to the collection of memories of last year's Junior Prom.

The class of 1971 saw Bernadette Randle crowned queen of its Junior Prom, while Matt Lieber reigned as king of "The Soulful Fantasy."

Exciting Class Day Planned By Officers

Predicting the future, remembering the past, passing on distinctive characteristics and presenting gifts to fellow seniors were the task undertaken by the 1971 Class Day officers.

The officers, elected in late February were Neline Berry, Prophet; Angela Dunn, Historian; David Specknam, Willmaker; and George Witt, Giftorian. Neline predicted "fantastic things would happen to a fantastic class." Angie reviewed the record breaking accomplishments, heart-breaking disappointments, and unique experiences that made it "the greatest four of our our lives." "Speck" willed laughter, tears, exasperation, sentiment, and success from the class of 1971 to the class of '72. Giftorian George Witt saw to it that no graduating senior was without a "gift" to suit his personality.

Class Day officers received invaluable knowledge from Ernest Frigo, Class Sponsor. Mr. Frigo was there to offer advice, assistance and many encouraging words. Mr. Frigo was also helpful in planning all the activities that made 1971 the senior year "one to be remembered."

Senior Party Highlights Yuletide Season

Loudly sung Christmas carols, a jolly Santa in the form of Bishop Datson, and a student-decorated Christmas tree all helped to set the gala mood for the Senior Christmas Party.

The food variety ranged from French pastry to good old American hot dogs. Potato chips and punch were also quite popular on the menu.

Playing the latest records and dancing to the music were some of the fun-field activities. The highlight of the event was the "Gift" presentation. The "Gifts" were chosen by a special committee of Senior Council members and were supposedly suited to the personality of their recipients.

Cheered by the Christmas spirit, Debbie Carpenter and Gricelda Ross prepare to whisper their secret wishes to "Santa Datson."

Counselors

Aid Seniors

At the close of their high school years, seniors began to plan for the future, many looking toward a college education. These seniors found help in room 109 with Mrs. Dorothy Otto, the college counselor.

Representatives from colleges and universities throughout the U.S. came to talk to interested pupils.

Mrs. Otto, college counselor, instructs Mimi Burns and Debra Sama in the intricate details of filling out college applications.

Steve Mason Utilizes Exceptional Talent

Not only is he amazingly good on the piano and organ, but Steve Mason is also an accomplished composer. During his junior year, he recorded his original composition, "Nitty Gritty Humbug." He also has played as the introductory act for jazz pianist Ramsey Lewis at Bush Stadium and at the Indianapolis reception for flutist Herbie Mann. Steve is quite an accomplished base clarinetist and an exceptionally talented singer.

Grooving to his own composition "Nitty Gritty Humbug", Steve Mason plays on his organ his original composition.

Junior Class

Sparks SHS

The Junior year was a busy year for the Class of '72. The year started off with the election of class officers by Junior Class card holders. Later, in the Autumn, the class elected the Junior Policy.

A big decision, made by the administration, was the combining of the two class proms into one Junior-Senior Prom. Many students spent afternoons and weekends preparing for the joint prom.

Juniors began thinking about college and talked to college representatives who visited the school. Many of the Juniors took the PSAT test and went on to take the SAT test.

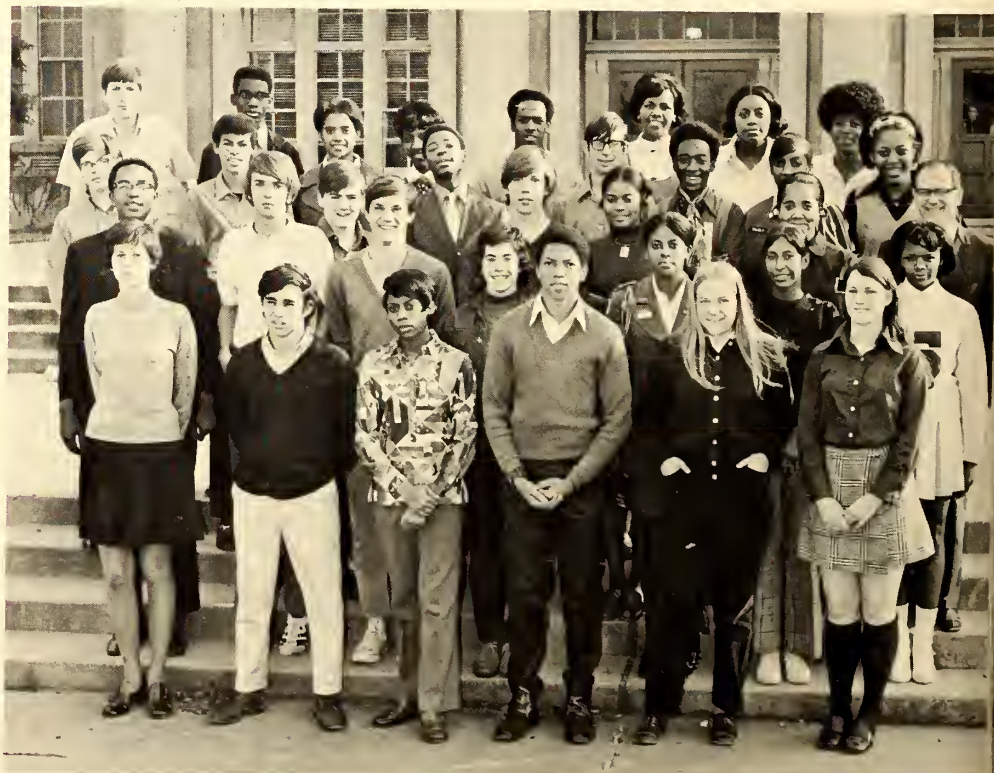

Students interested in business and economics joined Junior Achievement. This organization gave its members an opportunity to gain understanding of the business world.

In all, the Junior Class prepared itself to become successful seniors.

Jr. Officers: Dave Skole (pres.), Kittie Smith (v. pres.), Lula Barnette (v.v. ch.), Allison Roaker (prog. ed.), Sharan Hoag (v.v. pub.), Raz Dunham (sec.), Michael French (treas.).

Jr. Policy: Front Row—Raz Dunham, Dave Skole, Kittie Smith, Michael French, Sharon Hoog, Allison Roaker. Second Row—Greg Jones, Tam McDowell, Jim Jelliffe, Karla Saperstein, Patty Hummons, Vicki Benberry, Terry Willis. Third Row—Dan Smith, Rob Dawson, Betty Jo Rawls, Barbara Malone, Mr. Ventresca (sponsor). Fourth Row—Richard Toumey, Anthony Kennedy, Dale Dupree, Tom Marks, Clinton Carbon, Pam Gallee, Diane Jackson. Back Row—Mike Harding, Ronald Powell, Virginia Booth, Cheryl Pryar, Walter Peacock, Kaye Strong, Vernyee Brown, Diane Jackson.

Susie Allen, Zettie Allen, Chris Andrews, Rawena Archibald, Sharan Archie, Penny Armistead, Diana Arnold, Richard Arthur, Malva Averitte.

Kim Baker, Rita Bargus, David Barnett, Lula Barnett, Peggy Barnett, Debarah Battle, Geralynn Bellamy, Sharan Bellamy, Victoria Benberry.

Stanley Bibbs, William Bills, Karen Bishap, Tanya Bledsae, Virginia B a a t h, Elizabeth Baurke, Catherine Bawes, Warren Bayd, Kevin Bradley.

Class Of '73

Progresses

Along with the experience of a high school year, the Sophomore class received the pleasure of having seniority over the Freshmen.

However, along with the title of Sophomore, there came a responsibility. After a year of fun and frolic, sophomores realized the importance of school and took pride in it.

Biology and geometry were some of the courses in which most of the sophomores were enrolled. The excitement of dissecting grasshoppers and fetal pigs, and the fun of memorizing theorems and postulates, was all included in the every day life of the sophomores. The past year was a challenge for the class of '73.

Striving to improve their acting abilities, Rhonda Hale and Sharon Elston work hard in dramatics class, carrying on a dramatic dialogue.

Sophs Look Ahead In Vocational Themes

This past year, English III's spent many hours in preparation for their vocational themes. Part of this preparation involved taking Kuder Tests to determine the students vocational abilities. Other hours were spent in learning the technique of writing research papers.

The Charity Dye Library became their center of reference materials and many hours were spent there in the search for information.

After the first drafts were completed and checked, the final epics were prepared. Teachers were confronted with themes on occupations such as medicine, law, data computation.

With papers in, frustration ended.

Active Frosh Face Future

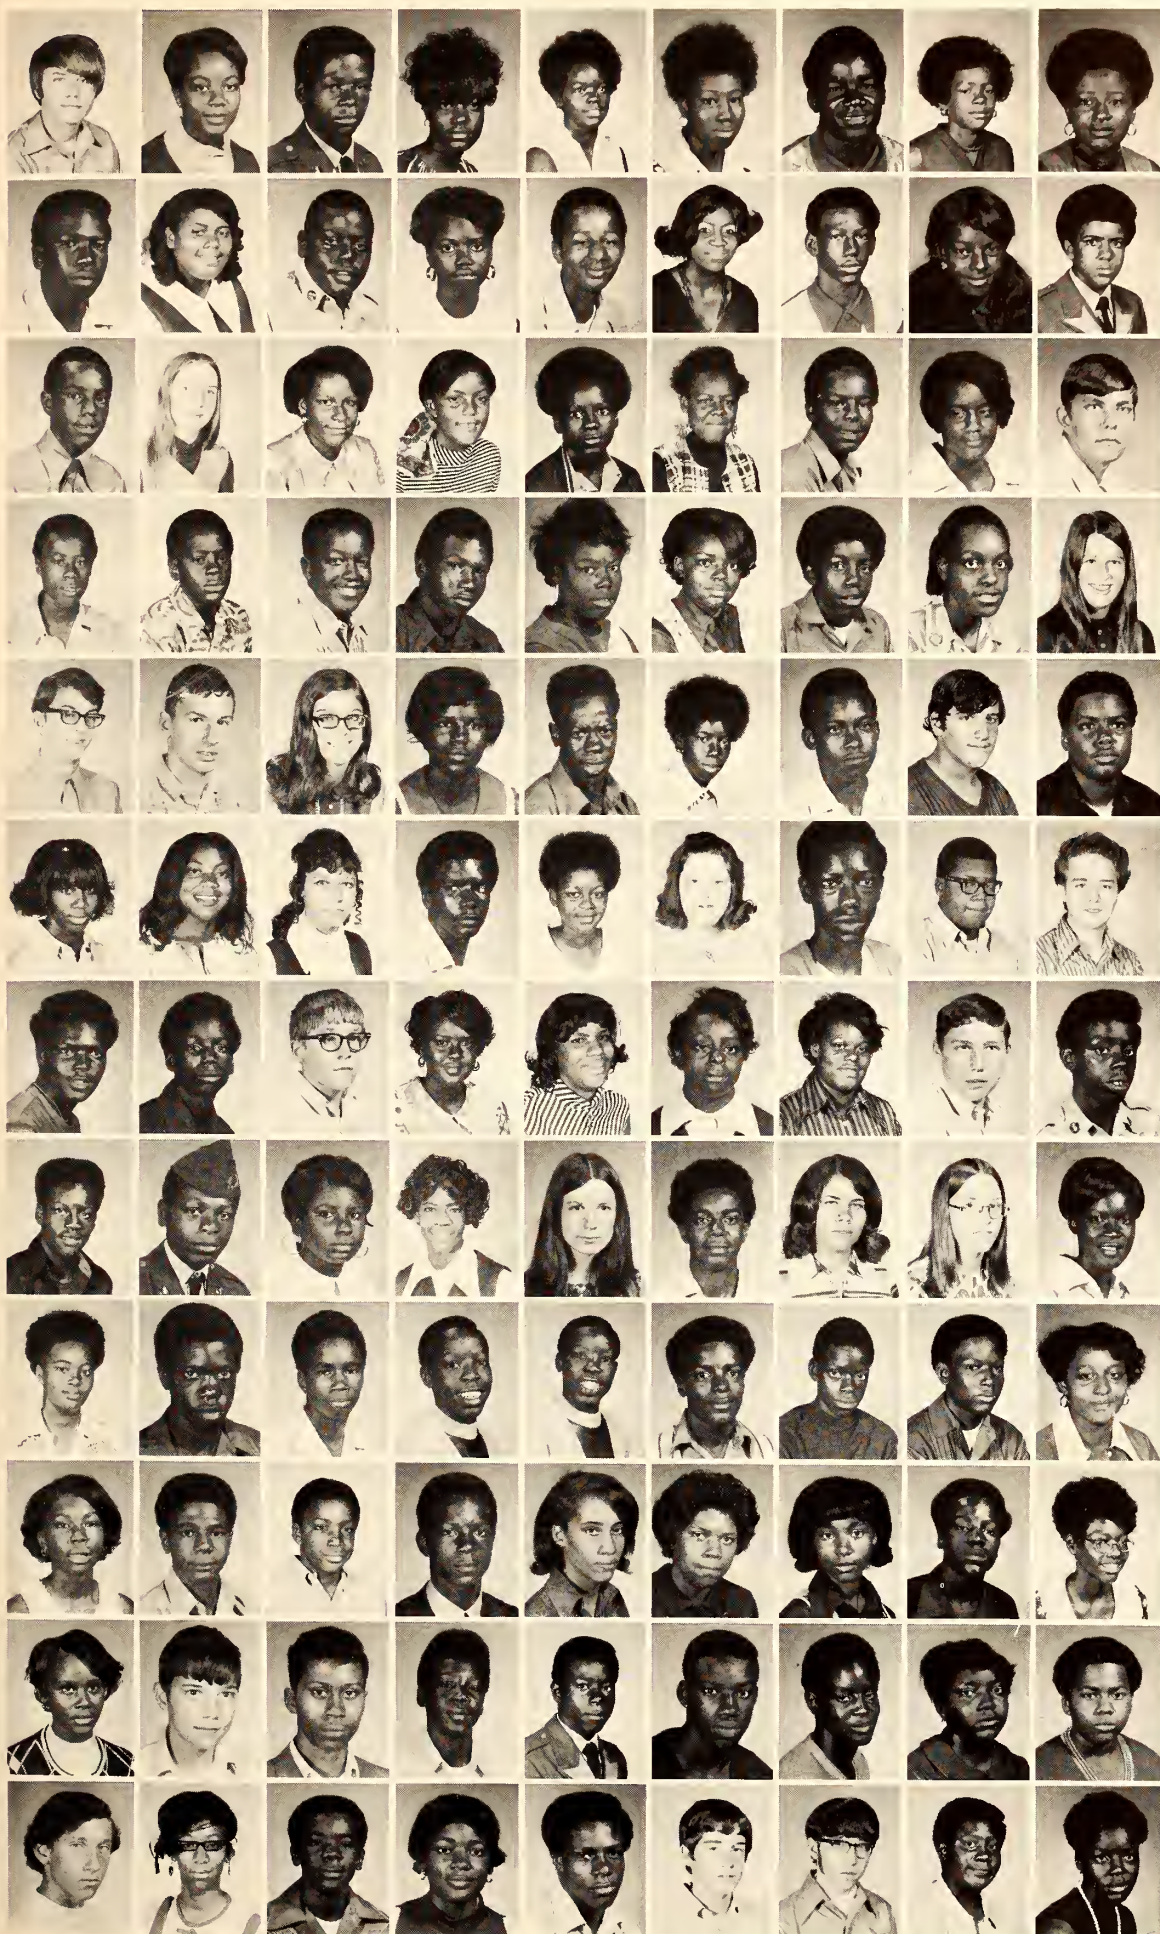

Adjusting to the present and preparing for the future was the big task of this year's Freshmen Class. Guided by many helpful underclassmen, Frosh joined clubs and organizations which helped them to fit into SHS.

A weiner roast in Holliday Park and a Christmas party and dance were also some of the things by which Freshmen proved they were active partners in the school.

Gathered on the cafeteria floor to dance, members of the 1971 Frosh Class enjoy the Girl's League sponsored Christmas Party.

The Class of '73 experiences fun and frolic while stuffing themselves during the Christmas party given them as a welcome.

Freshmen In Many Clubs And Activities

Many of the Freshmen participated in the various clubs at Shortridge. A great number turned out to work on the "Echo," helping to bring out latent talent.

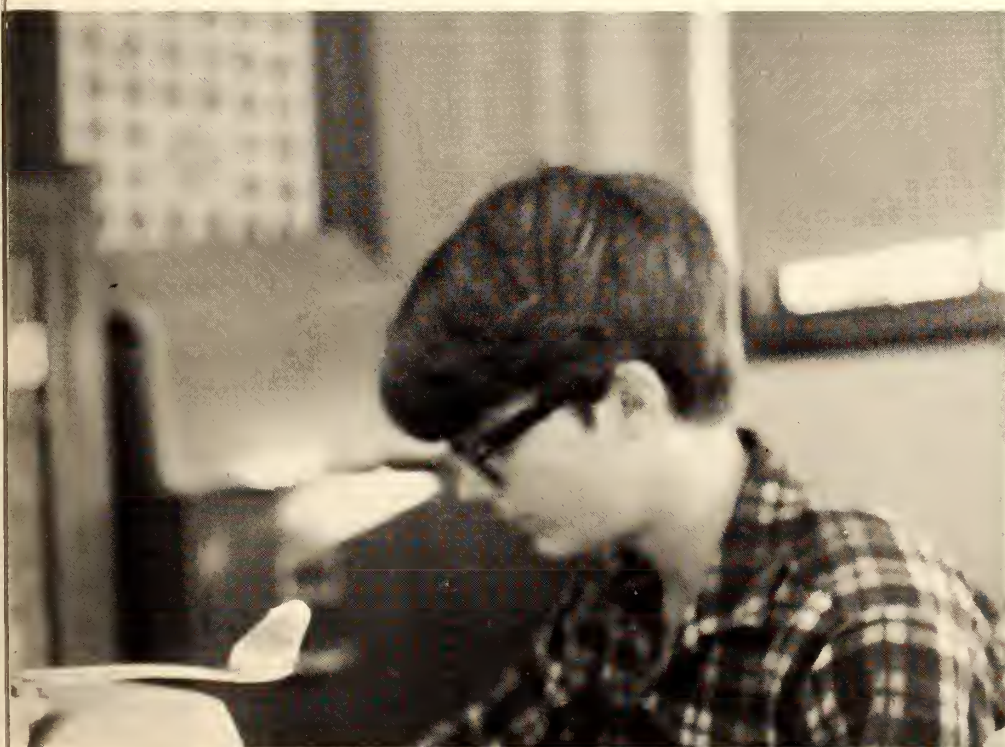

Some of the Freshmen girls were active in the ROTC Girls Drill Team and in cheerleading. Boys took part in ROTC and many of the school sports, such as football, basketball and baseball.

Freshmen also found themselves possessed with a voice in student government by electing Student Council Representatives from Freshmen English Classes.

Many Frosh were involved in such school functions as electing Freshmen Homecoming Princesses. Freshmen with musical talent participated in B band.

Frosh also helped by just adding support when needed.

Many freshmen, such as Chris Schieder, made a place for themselves by joining varied school activities. Here Chris types up a story.

Frosh Class

Largest Yet

Freshman in the Frosh Class of '71 were received in a different manner than other recent freshman classes. This was because it was the first comprehensive Freshman Class in several years and new adjustments had to be made.

Freshmen were placed in English, World History, and other classes according to their ability. Many of the new group were not specifically geared for future college work, but more fitted to a vocationally-oriented program.

This was one of the largest freshman classes in the history of Shortridge. Many "walk in" students added to the size problem. As a result, the school administration found it necessary to change staff and equipment to meet problems created by the greater numbers of frosh.

Help in adjusting to the environment of high school is provided in the form of tutoring service and a big-brother, big-sister program.

Hey Branson -
 Now - been quite a year. Remember all the parties and the float & New Establishment and all and all the kids and everything else? Gosh. This is getting typical annual-craze. A lot of stuff has happened this year. A lot of changes - maybe too many changes. But I guess that's way things go. I don't really know what to put next - maybe just thanks. Thanks for being someone I can count on (read). That's got to be the best thing you've ever done for me - and I just can't begin to repay you. If there's ever anything I can do - please ~~ask~~ tell me. It's been a couple ten years but the last was by far the best - thanks.
 Hope you got that job at New York.
 Have a great first summer and I'll look to go on the fall. (S) (S) (S)

Advertising manager, Angie Dunn fights the urge to drap from exasperation, and tries to figure out a way to get enough advertising.

Recognition And Thanks

An eventful year of change and innovation has ended for the Annual staff of '71. Our yearbook from cover to cover, is unlike any other ever produced at Shortridge. We have tried, to the best of our collective abilities, to record all the events of the year with detail and accuracy. We may have failed, but we tried.

Many thanks and kudos must go to all those who have helped to make this a successful year. Those included are; Mr. Green, principal; the vice-principal Coleman who made the desperately needed off-schedule announcements; vice-principal Shull;

Mrs. Segal for guiding us over a period of financial crisis; the Ayres Photo-Reflex Studio; the Underclassmen Photographer, Mr. Schwin for his outstanding photographs; Newsfoto Publishing Company and its representative, Dick Kennard who helped us with our cover; Mr. Robert Houston, the advisor who pushed us to make our deadlines and gave us a hand when we really needed it; and last but not least, the dedicated staff of editors and workers, who put off homework and other school activities, just to finish "the book."

JUNE OLDHAM,
ANNUAL EDITOR '71

Barb Hill, Angie Dunn, Katie Mahern, and Lucinda Marshall show glee at completing the deadline.

Job placement workers, Liz Ulen, Lara Janes, Mimi Burns and Karla Saperstein busy themselves in an attempt to find student jobs.

Shortridge athletes walk proudly across the stage as they receive their sweaters and awards for outstanding performances.

Idle from a student boycott, organized by the Student Council, the cafeteria line saw few customers during the weeks of protest.

Sampling Prog. Provides Apprenticeships

Sue Robinson and Marj Craft concentrate on Numerology, taught by Mr. John Macri. With their new knowledge, Sue and Marj hope to foretell their future. Numerology is a Humanities Course.

For students seeking a profession, Job Sampling provided an opportunity for an apprenticeship on a selected field of work. Sponsored by Mr. Woodard, the program was, for the most part, student run.

New to the school this past year was the Humanities Department which offered a wide variety of courses and seminars to suit nearly everyone's taste. Philosophies East and West and an art seminar were among those offered. Mr. Roy Aberson, sponsor, was aided by a group of interested students and parents in organizing the new department.

A student boycott was organized by the Student Council to help improve cafeteria conditions. Because the student body worked together, many of the requests, including an express line, were fulfilled by the administration.

Athletic awards were given in the fall and spring at the awards auditorium. Outstanding athletes received letters or letter-sweaters.

Another important change at The Ridge was the changing of the "Shortridge Daily Echo" to the "Shortridge Echo," published weekly.

Shortridge had an active year along with a number of changes which helped make it a better school.

The year has passed
as suddenly as it appeared.

Leaving only with each oblivious moment
—each confrontation—
a new sense of awareness and inner-growth.

Wyer
